House Rules BCBGS

1. General

- The House Rules (HR) are binding on all members
- The HR are drawn up by the Board of Directors
- Membership of a breed club not recognised by the FCI is prohibited
- Changes to the house rules are communicated by email or, where this is not available, by post

2. Members

2.1 Full members

- own a BGS (Bayerischer Gebirgsschweißhund) or HS (Hannoverscher Schweißhund) that has passed a recognised FCI preliminary test
- own a BGS or HS that has not passed a recognised FCI preliminary test, but have assisted on 3 tracks with a full member. A declaration to this effect has been sent to the secretariat.
- do not own a BGS or HS, but have assisted on 3 tracks with a full member. A declaration to this effect has been sent to the secretariat.
- must hold a valid hunting licence.
- undertake to keep, in future, only a BGS or HS originating from a club recognised by the KBGS e.V. 1912 (parent club)
- have full voting rights at the General Meeting

If the BGS or HS of a full member dies, that person remains a full member.

The membership fee for full members is €50.

2.2 Aspiring members

- do not own a BGS or HS
- must hold a valid hunting licence
- undertake to keep, in future, only a BGS or HS originating from a club recognised by the KBGS e.V. 1912 (parent club)
- have no voting rights at the General Meeting

To become a full member, one must have assisted on 3 tracks (not control searches) with a full member (for this, a declaration must be completed by the full member).

The membership fee for aspiring members is €50.

2.3 Supporting members

- have no intention of working with a BGS or HS and are members purely out of sympathy
- have no voting rights at the General Meeting

The membership fee for supporting members is €25.

2.4 Application for membership

The membership application form must be completed and sent to the secretariat.

3. Breeding

- The conditions for breeding are set out in the breeding regulations approved by the KKUSH. Failure to comply with the breeding regulations automatically results in the definitive exclusion of the member concerned.

4. Application for a puppy

- Only full members are eligible for a puppy.
- The application form for a BGS or HS puppy must be completed and sent to the secretariat.
- The breeding officer will contact the applicant within 1 month of the application.

5. Training and assessment

The owner of a puppy undertakes to pass all tests required to bring the BGS or HS into breeding.
